

CHRONOLOGY OF PRINTING OF THE MARPRELATE AND RELATED TRACTS

- February 28, 1587 Penry presents petition to Parliament along with a copy of his Aequity, printed by Joseph Barnes at Oxford.
- February-March, 1588 Penry's Exhortation printed.
- April, 1588 Waldegrave prints the anonymous State of the Church Laid Open (Diotrephes' Dialogue), perhaps written by Martin Marprelate, at his shop in London.
- April 16, 1588 Waldegrave's press seized.
- May, 1588 Second edition of Penry's Exhortation printed.
- May 13, 1588 State of the Church Laid Open burned, and Waldegrave's press destroyed.
- mid-July, 1588 Waldegrave and Penry print Penry's Defence at Mistress Crane's manor of East Molesey Priory across the Thames from Hampton Court palace.
- October, 1588 Waldegrave prints Martin's Epistle and Udall's Demonstration at Mistress Crane's manor of East Molesey Priory.
- November, 1588 Waldegrave prints Martin's Epitome at Sir Richard Knightley's manor of Fawsley in Northamptonshire.
- late January, 1589 Waldegrave prints Martin's Certain Mineral and Metaphysical School-points at John Hales' property, the Whitefriars in Coventry.
- March, 1589 Waldegrave prints Penry's View of Some Part of Such Public Wants and Martin's Hay Any Work For Cooper at the Whitefriars.
- April, 1588 Waldegrave leaves for Devonshire.
- May-August, 1589 Waldegrave prints the anonymous Dialogue Wherein Is Plainly Laid Open and Master Some Laid Open In His Colours (both probably written by Martin Marprelate) at La Rochelle in France, as well as Penry's Appellation.
- late July, 1589 Hodgkins prints Martin's Theses Martinianae and his Just Censure and Reproof of Martin Junior at Sir Roger Wigston's manor of Wolston Priory.
- July 29, 1589 Hodgkins and his assistants depart for Manchester.
- August 14, 1589 Earl of Derby's men seize press and type at Newton Lane in Manchester, together with the manuscript of More Work For Cooper. Hodgkins and his two assistants taken into custody.
- September, 1589 Martin's Protestation printed at Wolston Priory by Throckmorton and Penry, assisted in the latter stages by Waldegrave.