

SUMMARY: This document records the receipt by William Cooke of sums of money received by him to Oxford's use from Henry Golding, William Bugby, and Jerome Balborough, bailiffs of Oxford's manors, from the farmer of the manor of Abington, and from Robert Newdigate, feodary of Buckinghamshire, in 1564 and 1565.

For the will of William Cooke (d. 14 May 1589), esquire, brother of Oxford's mother-in-law, Mildred (nee Cooke) Cecil (1526-1589), Lady Burghley, see TNA PROB 11/74/523.

Certain sums of money received by me, William Cooke, of divers persons to the use of the young Earl of Oxenford, 21 Iunij 1564 a{nn}o 6 Eliz{abethe}.

Com{itatu} Cantabr{igie}	Inprimis, received of Mr Henry Golding, bailiff of the Castle of Camps, upon account	£43 18s 10d
Com{itatu} Cantabr{igie}	Received of William Bugby, bailiff of the manor of Abington the Great, upon account	£12 15s 5-3/4d
Com{itatu} Wiltsh'	Received of Jerome Balborough, bailiff of the manor of Christian Malford, upon account	£17
Com{itatu} Bedford[sic]	Received of Mr Robert Newdigate, feodary there, upon account	£68
	Su{mma} recept{orum}	£141 14s 3/4d [sic]
Com{itatu} Cantabr{igie} 9 Maij 1565	Received of the farmer of Abington the Great for half a year due on Our Lady day last past [= 25 March 1565]	£6 10s
Com{itatu} Wiltsh' 11 Iunij 1565	Received of Jerome Balborough, bailiff of the manor of Christian Malford, upon account	£20
	Su{mma} to{ta}lis	£168 4s 3-3/4d

Received by me, William Cooke

Endorsed:

William Cooke, for moneys received by him of th' Earl of Oxenford's £168 4s 3-3/4d