FAMILY BACKGROUND

The testator was the eldest surviving son of Thomas Windsor (d. 29 September 1485) and Elizabeth Andrews, daughter of John Andrews (d.1473) of Baylham, Suffolk, by Elizabeth Stratton (d.1474). See Cokayne, George Edward, The Complete Peerage, Vol. XII, Part II, (London: St. Catherine Press, 1959), p. 792, and Richardson, Douglas, Plantagenet Ancestry, 2nd ed., 2011, Vol. II, pp. 469-70.

For the will of the testator's grandmother, Elizabeth Stratton Andrews (d.1474), see TNA PROB 11/6/191, and Nicholas, Nicholas Harris, Testamenta Vetusta, Vol. I, (London: Nichols and Son, 1826), pp. 329-31 at:

<https://archive.org/stream/testamentavetust01nico#page/328/mode/2up>.

For the will of Dame Alice Wyche (d.1474), sister of the testator's grandmother, Elizabeth Stratton Andrews (d.1474), see TNA PROB 11/6/263, and Nicholas, supra, pp. 336-7. The will of Alice Wyche, widow of Sir Hugh Wyche, alderman and merchant of London, is mentioned in the testator's will below.

For the will of the testator's father, Thomas Windsor (d.1485), see TNA PROB 11/7/294, and Nicholas, supra, pp. 352-6 at:

<https://archive.org/stream/testamentavetust01nico#page/352/mode/2up>.

After the death of Thomas Windsor, the testator's mother married secondly Sir Robert Lytton (d.1505). See his will, TNA PROB 11/14/661, and Richardson, supra, p. 470.

Like Margaret Echingham (see below), the testator's mother was a descendant of Robert de Vere, 3rd Earl of Oxford (see Richardson, Douglas, Magna Carta Ancestry, 2nd ed., 2011, Vol. III, pp. 70-72). Thus, both the mother and the wife of the testator were descendants of Robert de Vere, 3rd Earl of Oxford.

According to Richardson, supra, the testator had only two brothers, Andrew Windsor and Sir Anthony Windsor, and only four sisters, Elizabeth Windsor, Bridget Windsor, Alice Windsor and Anne Windsor. However another brother, William Windsor, is mentioned in the will of the testator's father, Thomas Windsor, and in the will below the testator mentions another sister, Margaret Windsor, late Prioress of the Monastery of Syon. The testator's brothers and sisters, as recorded by Richardson, were:

* Andrew Windsor, about whom nothing further is known.

* Sir Anthony Windsor (d. July 1548), who married firstly Elizabeth Lovell, the daughter of Henry Lovell and Constance Hussey, by whom he had a son, Henry Windsor (d.1553), and three daughters: Constance Windsor, who married Thomas Rithe; Edith Windsor, who married Henry Mervyn; and Honor Windsor. Henry Windsor, who is said to have been 'an idiot from birth', married Eleanor Burbage (d.1574), who after his death married secondly, Hugh Partridge; thirdly, Oliver St John (d.1571), for whose will see TNA PROB 11/53/192; and fourthly, Rocco Bonetti (d.1587), the Italian master of fence alluded to by Shakespeare in Romeo and Juliet.

For the marriage of Henry Windsor and Eleanor Burbage, see the pedigree of Burbage of Hayes Park Hall in Armytage, George John, ed., Middlesex Pedigrees as Collected by Richard Mundy, (London: Harleian Society, 1914), Vol. LXV, p. 80 at:

<https://archive.org/stream/middlesexpedigre65mund#page/80/mode/2up>.

For the marriage of Edith Windsor and Henry Mervyn, see Howard, Joseph Jackson, ed., Miscellanea Genealogica et Heraldica, Vol. I, New Series, (London: Hamilton, Adams and Co., 1874), p. 422.

Sir Anthony Windsor married secondly, Anne Troyes, the daughter of Thomas Troyes (living 1503), by whom he had a son, Anthony Windsor. See TNA C 1/1462/51, a Chancery suit dating from 1556-8 concerning lands in Arreton 'late of Thomas Troyes deceased, grandfather of complainants', William Pounce, esquire, and Anthony Windsor, gentleman. For the marriage of William Pounce (d. 5 July 1525), and Edburga Troyes, see his will, TNA PROB 11/21/561, and the pedigree in Hampshire Record Office 5M50/403-405. For the marriage of Sir Anthony Windsor and Anne Troyes, see also the Windsor pedigree in Rylands, W. Harry, Pedigrees from the Visitation of Hampshire, Vol. LXIV, (London: Harleian Society, 1913), p. 60 at:

https://archive.org/stream/PedigreesFromTheVisitationOfHampshireMadeByThomasBenolt/PedigreesFromTheVisitstionOfHampshire_v64_286pgs#page/n71/mode/2up.

Sir Anthony Windsor married thirdly Jane Basset (d.1572), said to have been the widow of William Unwin. For her will, in which she mentions 'my daughter, Constance Rithe', and desires to be buried in the chancel of Winton [=Winchester?] 'near unto the left side of my first husband, Mr Unwin', see TNA PROB 11/54/413. A William Unwin who died without issue is shown in the Unwin pedigree in Rylands, supra, p. 110 at:

* Elizabeth Windsor, who married Richard Fowler (1466-1528). After her death, he married secondly Julian Shaa (d. 12 August 1527), daughter of Sir John Shaa, Lord Mayor of London. See Lee, Frederick George, The History, Description and Antiquities of the Church of the Blessed Virgin Mary at Thame, (London: Mitchell and Hughes, 1883), p. 296 at:

https://books.google.ca/books?id=f1oMAQAAMAAJ&pg=PA295&lpg=PA295&dq=%22Elizabeth+Windsor%22+%22Richard+Fowler%22&source=bl&ots=v_g_W-pmVai&sig=UePg0SrgcRYOL6GylBgQ6QFFRjs&hl=en&sa=X&ved=0ahUKEwiN5vqV7ejTAhUE5mMKHYmLBvY4ChDoAQgnMAE#v=onepage&q=%22Elizabeth%20Windsor%22%20%22Richard%20Fowler%22&f=false.

* Bridget Windsor, who likely died young. She is mentioned in the will of her grandmother, supra, but is not mentioned in her father's will.

* Alice Windsor, who married George Puttenham, the son of William Puttenham and Anne Hampden. As noted below, the testator's son and heir, William Windsor (1498-1558), 2nd Baron Windsor, married, as his second wife, circa 1554, Elizabeth Cowdray (1520-1588/9), widow of Richard Paulet, younger brother of William Paulet, 1st Marquess of Winchester. After the death of William Windsor (1498-1558), 2nd Baron Windsor, his widow, Elizabeth (nee Cowdray) married, circa 1560, George Puttenham (1529-1590/91), reputed author of The Art of English Poesy in which Oxford is named among court poets who have written 'excellently well', and is said to deserve 'the highest prize' for comedy and interlude. There is yet another family connection between the Windsors and the Puttenham. Elizabeth Echingham, the sister of Margaret Echingham mentioned above, married Goddard Oxenbridge (d.1531); their son, Thomas Oxenbridge, married Elizabeth Puttenham (d. circa 1529), the daughter of Sir George Puttenham (see Sussex Archaeological Society, Sussex Archaeological Collections Relating to the History of the County, Vol. VIII (London: John Russell Smith, 1856), pp. 219-223).

* Anne Windsor (d.1500x1503), who was the first wife of Edmund Dudley (c. 1462–1510), by whom she had a daughter, Elizabeth Dudley (c.1499-c.1560), who married William Stourton (1505-1548), 7th Baron Stourton. See Richardson, Douglas, Plantagenet Ancestry, 2nd ed., 2011, Vol. I, p. 591. For Edmund Dudley, grandfather of Queen Elizabeth's favourite, Robert Dudley, Earl of Leicester, see the ODNB entry. The testator states in the will below that he is responsible for the disposition of certain money and goods in connection with the will of Edmund Dudley. The anonymous Leicester's Commonwealth (1584), almost certainly written by Oxford, comments ironically on both the title and contents of Edmund Dudley's Tree of Commonwealth. From The Dictionary of National Biography:

In prison Dudley also wrote a treatise on government and society, The Tree of Commonwealth, which survives in three sixteenth-century manuscripts and one seventeenth century. It aimed to advise Henry VIII on the restoration of the commonwealth of his realm. Its allegory is laborious. The polity is a tree, upheld by roots of godliness, justice, truth, concord, and peace. Each of these virtues must be actively pursued by the King and by each order of society in its own appropriate way.

MARRIAGES AND CHILDREN

The testator married Elizabeth Blount, who predeceased him. She was the granddaughter of Walter Blount (d.1474), 1st Lord Mountjoy, and the daughter of William Blount, esquire, who died at the battle of Barnet on 14 April 1471, by his wife, Margaret Echingham, a descendant of Robert de Vere, 3rd Earl of Oxford, and his wife, Isabel de Bolebec. Margaret Echingham's third husband was Thomas Combe, esquire. See Richardson, Douglas, Magna Carta Ancestry, 2nd ed., 2011, Vol. II, pp. 102-3.

By Elizabeth Blount the testator had four sons and four daughters:

*George Windsor, eldest son and heir, who married Ursula de Vere (d.1558), daughter of Sir George Vere (d.1503), and sister of John de Vere (1499-1526), 14th Earl of Oxford., but had no issue by her. After his death, she married secondly Sir Edmund Knightley. For her will, see TNA PROB 11/42A/10.

*William Windsor (1498 – 20 August 1558), 2nd Baron Windsor, who married firstly Margaret Sambourne, daughter and heiress of William Sambourne (d.1503) by Anne Copley, daughter of Roger Copley, and secondly Elizabeth Cowdray or Coudray, widow of Richard Paulet and second daughter of Peter Cowdray by his second wife Dorothy White, daughter of Thomas White. By his first wife, Margaret Sambourne, William Windsor was the father of Edward Windsor (1532?-1575), 3rd Baron Windsor, who married Oxford's half-sister, Katherine de Vere (1538-1600). For the will of William Windsor, see TNA PROB 11/42A/91.

*Edmund Windsor. He was executor of the will of his nephew, Thomas Windsor (born by 1523, d.1552). See TNA PROB 11/36/12.

*Thomas Windsor (c.1517-c.1567), who married Mary Beckingham (d.1574), the daughter and heir of Thomas Beckingham. Five of their children are mentioned in the will below, three sons, Peter Windsor, Miles Windsor and Andrew Windsor, and two daughters, Agnes Windsor and Ursula Windsor. See the will of Mary Beckingham Windsor, TNA PROB 11/56/275, and the Windsor pedigree in Gunn, Steven, Henry VIII's New Men and the Making of Modern England, (Oxford: Oxford University Press, 2016), p. xxi at:

*Elizabeth Windsor, who married Sir Peter Vavasour (d. in or after 1556) of Spaldington, Yorkshire. For the pedigree of Vavasour of Spaldington, see Howard, Joseph Jackson, ed., Miscellanea Genealogica et Heraldica, Vol. I, (London: Hamilton, Adams and Co., 1868), p. 194 at:

*Anne Windsor (d.1551), who married Roger Corbet (d.1538). Roger Corbet was about twelve years of age at his father's death on 11 April 1513, and in 1514 his wardship was purchased for 1000 marks by Charles Brandon, Duke of Suffolk. See Gunn, S.J., Charles Brandon, Duke of Suffolk c.1484-1545, (London: Basil Blackwell, 1988), p. 21 and the History of Parliament entry at:

<http://www.historyofparliamentonline.org/volume/1509-1558/member/corbet-roger-15012-38>.

Roger Corbet later became the ward of John de Vere (1442-1513), 13th Earl of Oxford (see TNA C 1/1485/58). After the 13th Earl's death, his widow and the Earl's other executors sold his wardship and marriage, as well as custody of his lands during his minority, for 950 marks to the testator, who married him to his daughter, Anne Windsor. For the will of Anne (nee Windsor) Corbet, see TNA PROB 11/34/443. For the will of Roger Corbet, see TNA PROB 11/27/408.

*Edith Windsor, who married George Ludlow (d.1580), esquire, of Hill Deverill, Wiltshire, by whom she had two sons and six daughters. For their eldest son, Sir Edmund Ludlow (d.1542-1624), see the History of Parliament entry at:

<http://www.historyofparliamentonline.org/volume/1604-1629/member/ludlow-sir-edmund-1542-1624>.

* Eleanor Windsor, who married firstly Ralph Scrope (d. 17 September 1515), 9th Baron Scrope of Masham or Upsall, by whom she had no issue. She married secondly Sir Edward Neville of Addington Park, Kent, esquire of the body to Henry VIII. See the ODNB entry for Sir Edward Neville (beheaded 1538/9). According to Richardson, infra, Sir Edward Neville was beheaded 9 January 1539; however according to the ODNB entry, he was beheaded 9 December 1538. According to Richardson, his wife, Eleanor Windsor, died before 25 March 1531; however according to the ODNB entry, she survived him.

By Sir Edward Neville, Eleanor Windsor had two sons and five daughters:

-Edward Neville (d.1589), 7th Lord Abergavenny, for whom see the ODNB entry.

-Sir Henry Neville (c.1520–1593), for whom see the ODNB entry.

-Katherine Neville, who married Clement Throckmorton (c.1515 – 14 December 1573), by whom she had six sons and seven daughters, including Job Throckmorton (1545–1601), who assisted in the publication of the Marprelate tracts. See the ODNB entry for Job Throckmorton.

-Mary Neville, who married Henry Dyneley of Charlton, Worcestershire. See Urban, Sylvanus, The Gentleman's Magazine, Vol. LXXIX, New Series, Part II, (London: John Nichols and Son, 1809), p. 1171 at:

https://books.google.ca/books?id=BaJoSZchmCUC&pg=PA1171&lpg=PA1171&dq=%22Neville%22+%22Crophorne%22&source=bl&ots=0W_L-zfmUY&sig=ic0o715bz8-r-T21cxcbrboJbMM&hl=en&sa=X&ved=0ahUKEwj1gOPE9-jTAhVH6mMKHXLpCoMQ6AEIRjAI#v=onepage&q=%22Neville%22%20%22Crophorne%22&f=false.

For a manuscript owned by Henry Dyneley, see:

http://beyondborders-medievalblog.blogspot.ca/2013/07/in-margins-reading-fifteenth-century_8.html,

-Frances Neville (1518/19–1599), who married firstly Sir Edward Waldegrave (1516/17–1561) of Borley, and secondly Chidioc Paulet (d. 17 August 1574). See the ODNB entry for Sir Edward Waldegrave, and his will, TNA PROB 11/44/318, and the will of Chidioc Paulet (d. 17 August 1574), TNA PROB 11/57/143.

-Gertrude Neville.

-Elizabeth Neville (d. 3 February 1584), who was a Gentlewoman of the Privy Chamber to Queen Elizabeth, and who married Thomas Eynns (d. 19 August 1578), esquire. See Hargrove, William, History and Description of the Ancient City of York, (York: William Alexander, 1818), p. 89 at:

<https://archive.org/stream/historydescripti02harguoft#page/88/mode/2up/>.

See also the History of Parliament entry for Thomas Eynns at:

According to various sources, the testator died on 30 March 1543, and was buried in the chapel at Hounslow. The monument which he requested be built there is no longer extant. However part of the inscription on the tomb of his eldest son and heir, George Windsor, is given in Weever, John, Antient Funeral Monuments (London: W. Tooke, 1768), p. 299, available online:

Orate pro animabus GEORGII WINDSORE, filij ANDREE WINDSORE, de Stanwell, militis; & VRSULE uxoris eius . . . suorum & heredis apparentis . . . JOHANNIS, comitis Oxonie . . .

TESTATOR'S LANDS

The portion of the will concerning the testator's real property has not been transcribed below.

LM: Test{amentu}m Andre{w} Wyndsor Milit{is} d{omi}ni Wyndesor

In the name of God, Amen. The 16th day of the month of March in the 34th year [=1543] of the reign of our Sovereign Lord Henry the Eight, by the grace of God of England, France and Ireland King, Defender of the Faith, and in earth of the Church of England and also of Ireland Supreme Head, I, Andrew Windsor of Stanwell in the county of Middlesex, knight, Lord Windsor, being whole of mind and in good memory, laud and praising be unto my Saviour and Maker, Jesus Christ, make and ordain this my present testament and last will in manner and form following:

Also I will that mine executors or my next heir keep solemnly an obit yearly in the said Church of Stanwell, or in such church or parish where I hereafter shall happen to dwell, for me and my wife, my father, my mother, our ancestors, friends, children's souls and all Christian souls upon the day of the decease of my most loving father, Thomas Windsor, esquire, or within 14 days of the same, by the space of forty years then next ensuing after my decease, with as many priests and clerks as my said father's will is, with such part of the revenues and profits as shall come and grow of my manor of Marsh Baldon otherwise called Baldon Windsor within the county of Oxford, over and above such sums of money as I have assigned for two chantries to be founden in the churches of Stanwell and Dorney if the laws of this realm will it permit and suffer, for the which obit I will that the vicar of Stanwell or such other church where the said obit shall be kept have 20d, and every priest being there 10d at dirge and Mass, and for Mass only, 6d, and every clerk for dirge and Mass, 8d, and Mass only, 4d, except the clerk of Stanwell or of such church where the said obit shall be kept I will shall have 20d for his labour, and the bell-ringers 16d;

And lights to be ordered and made by mine heirs and executors as it hath been used beforetime;

And I will there be distributed and disposed among the poor people of the parish at every obit in wheat one quarter, for bread and beer two kilderkins, and with malmsey and comfits for the choir in like form as hath been used afore this time;

And I will that all such plate and stuff as I had of my Lady my mother's be left with Sir William Windsor, knight, my son and heir apparent, or such other as shall happen to be next heir, for th' occupation of mine heirs and their wives during their lives, finding sufficient surety for delivery thereof to the same heirs when they shall come to it, except such plate as I underneath have bequeathed and given to my sons Edmund and Thomas according to the will and intent of my said most loving father, and all such other my principal plate and stuff embroidered, as well beds and altar-cloths of mine, to be kept to the same occupation and intent, to be delivered by indenture to my said heir for his occupation during his life and none otherwise, and so from heir to heir;

Item, I will that my son, Edmund Windsor, have all my stuff of household that remaineth at my house of Bonyorden [=Booniordens] in Stoke Poges within the county of Buckingham, and all other my movables there;

Also I will that he shall have a basin and an ewer of silver parcel gilt, being one of the three with suns in the bottom of the basin and the top of the ewer, and a pair of salts all gilt having mine arms upon them, a dozen of silver spoons, a cup of silver gilt with the garland about it;

Item, I will that my son, Thomas Windsor, have in like wise another basin and an ewer of silver parcel gilt, and a pair of salts, a dozen spoons, and another garland cup, being fellow to the other said cup;

Also I will that the said Thomas have all my stuff which is remaining in my chamber at London, and all manner of stuff that he hath and occupieth in his own chamber at Stanwell;

Item, I will that my daughters, that is to say, Dame Elizabeth Vavasour, wife of Sir Peter Vavasour of Spaldington in the county of York, knight, and Anne Corbet, wife of Roger Corbet of Moreton Corbet in the county of Shropshire, esquire, and Edith Ludlow, wife of George Ludlow of Hill Deverill in the county of Wiltshire, esquire, which I have married in my life, to be contented with such sums of money as I have bestowed upon their marriages, charging them to pray for my soul as they have cause to do for such great charges as I have had with them, and in especial with my daughter Corbet;

Item, I bequeath unto my sister, Margaret Windsor, late Prioress of the late Monastery of Syon, three pounds six shillings and eight pence of yearly annuity going out of my manor of Cranford in the county of Middlesex at two terms of the year, that is to say, at the feasts of th' Annunciation of Our Blessed Lady the Virgin and Saint Michael th' Archangel by even portions, to pray for my soul, my Lady my wife, my father and mother's souls, with all our ancestors' souls, children's, friends' souls and all Christian souls;

Item, I bequeath unto the said Sir William, my son, my chain of gold with the cross of the same garnished with diamonds and pearls, a spoon of gold, my cup of silver and gilt called 'the Helmet', with three bowls of silver and gilt, and two salts of silver and gilt with my arms, and my great chafing-dish of silver, and a basin and ewer of silver with my Lady Bedylls(?) arms in it, two great pots parcel gilt, to remain to him according to my father's will in like manner with other plate as is above rehearsed, and this to remain to my heirs males or to the heirs male of my brother, Sir Anthony Windsor, or for lack of such issue male to my right heirs according as is above rehearsed;

Item, I will that every gentleman and gentlewoman being my servants in my house with me at the time of my decease have 53s 4d to pray for my soul, and every yeoman being my servant, 40s;

Item, to Christian and Alice, my servants, either of them 40s, and every other man and woman 26s 8d besides their wages;

Item, to Bryan and his wife, 13s 4d;

Item, I will that Anne Corbet, my daughter, late wife of the foresaid Rogert [sic] Corbet, or Andrew Corbet, son of the said Roger, have forty pounds sterlings when they shall build their hall at Linslade in the county of Buckingham which I promised to the said Roger when he went to his household there;

Item, I will [+if] that my son, Sir William Windsor, or his heirs do put out or disturb my tenants or farmers to whom I have made any lease of my own lands or of the late Lady my wife's lands, or take any new fine of any of them for any lands by me so letten during his or their lease, that then the said Sir William shall be taken as none of my executors, and that all legacies made to him by this my present will shall be void and of none effect from that day forthward, and that my said legacies to him bequeathed shall be equally divided between my sons Edmund and Thomas;

Also I will that all such my tenants as shall be so put out or disturbed by my said son, Sir William, or any his heir, shall be recompensed of his damages and losses by mine other executors of the revenues of all such lands as shall remain by lease to my said executors for term of twenty years;

Item, I will that none of my said sons named to be any of mine executors shall not have any of their said legacies to them delivered before they have put in sufficient sureties for the rate of their said legacies for the performance of this my last will

Item, I will that Henry Draper and John Ede, my servants, have and enjoy all their offices and fees as they now having during their lives, doing their true service to my son and heir and to my heirs as they heretofore have done to me;

Item, I will that William Downes, my servant, have the preferment of the farm of my parsonage of Bordesley in the county of Worcester with all the tithes and profits of the same, with such covenants, conditions and agreements as shall be had, made and concluded between my said son, Sir William, or his heirs;

Item, I will that John Harrison, my servant, have yearly during his life after my decease forty shillings in wages, doing like service unto my said son and heir and my heirs as he now doth unto me;

Item, I will that the said Sir William, my son, after my decease do keep in his service all such servants as shall be dwelling with me at the time of my decease, if they be so disposed to abide with him;

And I will that my nephew, Anthony Windsor, and Edith Windsor, daughter to my brother, Sir Anthony Windsor, each of them to have one hundred marks, to be delivered to the said Edith the day of her marriage if she be ruled by her father and other her friends, and if she decease before she be married, then the foresaid hundred marks to remain to the said Anthony, her brother, to be bestowed in land, to have to him and to the heirs males of his body lawfully begotten, and for lack of such issue to my right heirs forever, and if the said Edith die, living the said Anthony, she not married, then I will the said hundred marks so to her bequeathed be bestowed in land to th' use of the said

Anthony, her brother, and to the heirs males of his body lawfully begotten, and for lack of such issue to my right heirs forever;

Item, I will that Agnes Windsor, and Ursula, and every of them, daughters of my said son, Thomas, have to their marriage one hundred marks the day of their marriage if they be ruled by their said father and such other his friends as shall have the governance of them, and if any of them happen to decease before their marriage, then I will the said sum of a hundred marks of her that shall so decease shall be paid to Peter Windsor, and if he decease, then to Miles Windsor, his brother, to be bestowed in land to th' use of him and of the heirs males of his body lawfully begotten, and for lack of such issue to th' use of the said Miles and of the heirs males of his body lawfully begotten, and for lack of such issue to remain to his brother, Andrew, and to the heirs males of his body lawfully begotten, and for lack of such issue to the heirs of the body of my son, Thomas Windsor, the younger brother unto Edmund Windsor, lawfully begotten, and for lack of such issue to my right heirs forever;

Also I will, where I was named by Edmund Dudley, esquire, with Richard Fitzjames, late Bishop of London, John, bishop of Calyapole [=Gallipoli], Master of Saint Thomas of Acres [=Acon], and John Colet, late Dean of Paul's, to dispose certain money and goods of the revenues of certain lands of the said Edmund Dudley by his last will, I will, ordain and make mine executors for the distribution of the said money and goods of the said Edmund Dudley Edmund Windsor, my son, to dispose and order the same according to the last will of the said Edmund Dudley;

Also I will that if I have injured or wronged any person or persons, or to be indebted to any man, and that sufficiently proved before mine executors and such counsel learned as they shall call unto them, that then they shall recompense them therefore;

Also I will that if it shall fortune anything to come to my remembrance at any time hereafter that is not contained in this my last will, then if I make any other writing thereof under my seal and signed with my own hand or written with my own hand, I will that it be taken and accepted as parcel of this my last will and testament, and that mine executors and all other give credence unto the same;

Item, I will that mine executors or Sir William Windsor, my son, perform and fulfil my father's will and my Lady my mother's will, and my Lady Wyche's will according to the intents of the same, which resteth and appeareth in the inventory in my said kind loving mother, Dame Elizabeth Lytton, and that also the last will of my Lady my wife and my son, George Windsor, be fulfilled, for that remaineth undone much part thereof;

The residue of all and singular my goods movable I give and bequeath unto my right well-beloved son, Sir William Windsor, knight, after this my will performed, to do with as he shall think best;

And for the true execution of this my present testament and last will I make and ordain my executors Sir Thomas Audley, knight, Lord Audley of Walden and Lord Chancellor of England, Sir John Baker, knight, Chancellor of the Tenth, Sir William Windsor, knight, my son and heir apparent, and my son, Edmund Windsor, esquire;

And the overseers of the same my testament I make and ordain the right honourable Thomas, Duke of Norfolk, and my brother, Sir Anthony Windsor, knight;

And to every of my said executors and overseers I give and bequeath the sums of money hereafter following, that is to say: to the said Lord Chancellor fifty pounds, to the said Sir John Baker, knight, thirty pounds six shillings and eight pence, to the said Sir William Windsor, knight, my son and heir apparent, nihil(?), and to the said Duke [+of] Norfolk forty pounds, and to my brother, Anthony Windsor, knight, ten pounds, praying them to accept it, and pray for my soul, and to be aiding and assisting in the executing of this my present testament and last will;

In witness whereof to this my present testament and last will I have subscribed my name with mine own hand the day and year abovesaid.
